Over a 1000 islands in the Adriatic to explore, innumerable bays and coves, glorious unspoiled beaches, crystal clear turquoise waters, magnificent mountain views, delicious gastronomy and 8 beautiful National Parks.

- We have some fabulous cruise itineraries planned for you, but if you prefer, you can plan your own itinerary. As well as the many Dalmatian islands you can visit, such as Kornati, Brač, Hvar, Korčula, Mljet and Vis, there are any number of fascinating towns you can explore, including Split, Trogir, Zadar and Šibenik, not forgetting Dubrovnik, one of the most magnificent towns on the Adriatic.

Expect to find the

The taste of Croatian cuisine

GASTRO SPECIALTIES OF THE MEDITERRANEAN

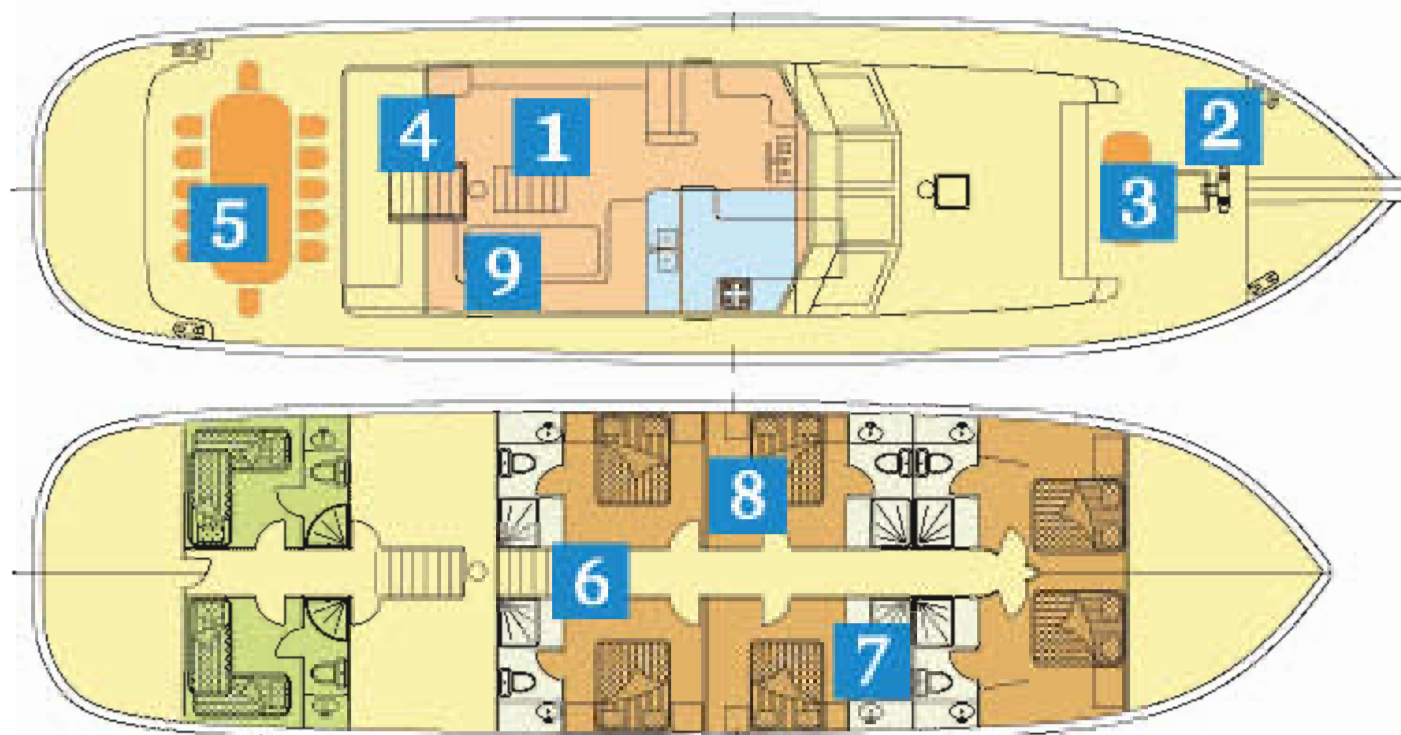

The cuisine of Dalmatia and the islands follows the trend of modern nutritional norms. The brief thermal preparation of foodstuffs (mainly boiling or grilling) and plenty of fish, olive oil, vegetables and self-sown herbs found near the sea is why this cuisine is considered to be very healthy.

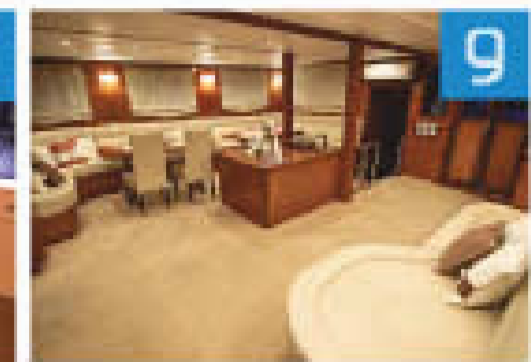

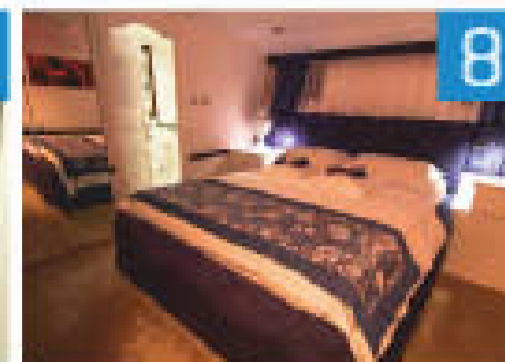

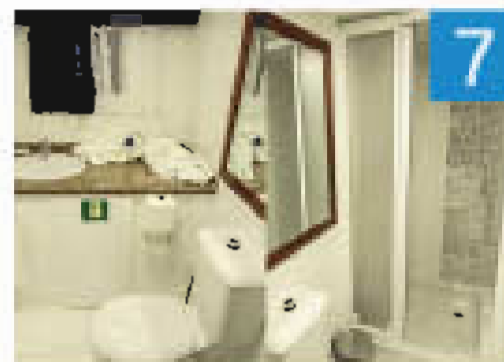

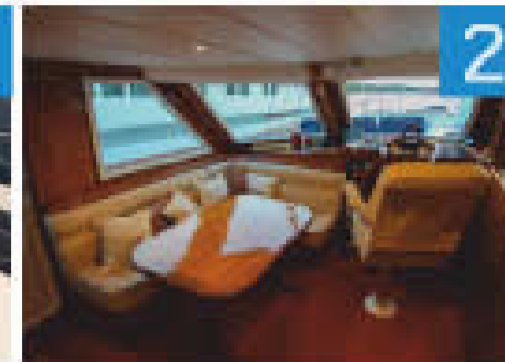

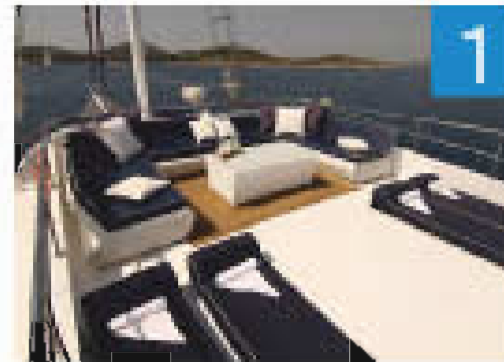

Dalmatian wines, like olive oil and salted olives, have been highly esteemed since ancient times. Croatia is justifiably proud of its broad palette of high quality wines (up to 700 wines with protected geographic origin) and brandies, fruit juices, beers and mineral water.
